

BID2023 Registration is Now Open!

Registration for our annual BARDA Industry Day (BID) conference is now open! This hybrid event will feature presentations from BARDA leadership, U.S. government partners, and industry on medical countermeasure (MCM) priorities and public health innovation. Attendees will also have an informal opportunity to interact with BARDA and ASPR teams and identify areas of potential collaboration in the field of MCM research and development.

Event Details

- What: BID 2023: Driving Innovation for Preparedness & Response
- Where: Hybrid event - virtual & Washington, D.C. (check our website for full location details). In-person attendance will be limited to early registrants
- When: November 13-14, 2023
- How: Register for BID2023 here!

This year, our event lineup will have an assortment of BARDA program briefings, guest speakers, networking opportunities, and specialized breakout sessions. In accordance with our theme, content will focus on BARDA's efforts to collaborate across government and industry to continually innovate MCMs to address current and future health security threats. For more information on the event, including featured speakers and session highlights, visit our website.

You can also stay in the know for BID2023 announcements and details by following BARDA on Twitter, LinkedIn, and Instagram – and our hashtag #BID2023.

We look forward to seeing you – either in-person or online – on November 13 and 14!
